Hijackers offered new proposals

Passengers face life-threatening ordeal

LARNACA, Cyprus (UPI) — Hijackers holding about 50 hostages aboard a Kuwait Airways jumbo jet Sunday beat at least one passenger and threatened to harm others unless authorities complied with their demand to refuel the Boeing 747.

But early Monday, as the ordeal entered a seventh day, the terrorists promised to "sleep on" another in a series of proposals worked out by the Cypriot government in consultation with Kuwait, which have been presented to the hijackers by a PLO official based in Cyprus.

"There has been a new contact and by the morning we should know the results," Cypriot government spokesman Akis Fantis said at 5:40 p.m. after Palestine Liberation Organization representative Malaz Abdo spoke for 20 minutes with the terrorists in the plane from atop a boarding stairway.

The conversation "gives us certain hopes," Fantis said.

"The hijackers told us to go to sleep. There will be nothing else until the morning," he said. "They promised a reply after sleeping on it."

Fantis refused to discuss the latest offer, but said, "The Cypriot stand has not changed. We want the hostages to be released. Then we shall give them the fuel they want."

A Kuwaiti Lear jet was seen arriving and leaving Larnaca

International Airport, where the hijacked airliner sat on the tarmac, and one source said a Kuwaiti delegation had been in contact with the hijackers earlier Sunday.

The source, who asked not to be identified further, predicted some hostages would be released within 24 hours.

The Arabic-speaking hijackers, demanding the release of 17 Shiite Moslem terrorists imprisoned in Kuwait, beat at least one of the passengers Sunday because authorities failed to refuel the jet. They killed one man Saturday.

"We confirm we have started hurting the passengers. One passenger has already been hurt (sic)," the hijackers said in a radio message to the Larnaca control tower shortly after authorities failed to meet a 8:15 a.m. refueling deadline.

The hijackers earlier had warned the control tower they would start "hurting the passengers one at a time" unless the plane was refueled. They claimed they would not kill the passengers.

Airshow features variety of aerobatic stunts, planes

By Amy Gaubatz
Staff Writer

Young and old alike gathered around planes and helicopters Saturday, peeping in the windows and sitting in the cockpits, dreaming of being able to fly.

Airshow 88, held at the Southern Illinois Airport, was sponsored by the SIU-C Rotor & Wing Association of America.

"We are very pleased with the outcome," David Settergren, airshow chairman said. More than 6,000 people attended the show, which netted $14,00 for next year's show.

The show featured military and civilian aircraft, some of which performed aerobatic maneuvers, skydivers and display airplanes. Privately owned aircraft also flew into the airport for the show.

John Johnson of Carbondale, the owner of one of the display planes, has been flying for 30 years and owns three planes in various stages of restoration. The Stinson "Gull Wing," named for the shape of its wings, was the plane that Johnson displayed.

The plane, with a wingspan of 42 feet, was flown for the British in World War II. The cranberry-colored, five-seater plane has a brass step ladder and plush velour interior.

"When you get up there, it puts everything in perspective — the world is so small," Johnson said of his flying experiences.

Unidentified body found on SIU land

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

Police from five departments are investigating the murder of an unidentified man found in the trunk of a car on University property in Union County around 1 a.m. Sunday morning.

The car, a black and beige 1972 Chevrolet, was owned by Michael D. Miley, 24, of Murphysboro. Miley has been reported missing since Wednesday night, Union County Sheriff Robin Dillon said Sunday.

Dillon said the body is of a white male in his 20s.

Dillon would not disclose how the man was killed or the types of wounds found on the body.

The body was taken to the Anna Mental Health Center and held in refrigeration before being transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphysboro at about 11 a.m. An autopsy was performed at St. Joseph's at about 1:30 p.m.

Pickers block Pulliam entrance

By Phyllis Coon

A labor union will file illegal picketing charges against the local labor union that picketed the Pulliam Hall asbestos removal project.

The 153 picketers did not allow workers from an Alton asbestos removal company to enter the building Friday. The local union said the workers of Speciality Waste Services were not following safety precautions.

"We see the pickets, the signs with skulls and cross bones," Ron Gibson, director of operations for Speciality Waste Service, Inc., said. "Our workers were scared. Our people were getting shoved and pushed and we pulled them off the job."

Gibson said the workers, who are members of the Congress Independent Union, are following state safety regulations for removing the asbestos. The company also

SPC pulling at threads over T-shirts

By Edward Rahe
Staff Writer

Two students are unable to sell the Springfest T-shirts they designed on campus because the Student Programming Council claims exclusive rights to all Springfest T-shirt sales.

A compromise solution could not be found when the two students met with SPC representatives to negotiate a settlement late last week.

Delta Tau fraternity stopped sponsorship of Steve Cox and Tom Gorton's shirt sales when SPC told the fraternity it had "exclusive rights" to the sale of Springfest T-shirts. Without the sponsorship of a registered student organization, Cox and Gorton, design students, cannot sell their shirts on campus.

Sean Craig, SPC Special Events Committee chairperson, said SPC did not intend to prevent people from making money. Rather, he said, it was SPC's intent to promote a specific theme for Springfest.

Earlier Craig said that since the Special Events Committee ultimately is responsible for Springfest, complaints about an obscene or objectionable T-shirt would go to SPC and not the organization that sold the shirt.

Gorton and Cox dispute SPC's claim to exclusive rights. They contend that SPC has no right to a shirt monopoly because it hasn't entered into an agreement with the University.

"I'm really mad about this. Everything we've been taught about entrepreneurship has been shot down by politics," Gorton said.

"I can see how SPC is concerned about big business

Afghan guerrillas shoot plane down with missile

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — Afghan guerrillas firing a surface-to-air missile shot down a Soviet-made An-26 passenger aircraft over northern Afghanistan Sunday, killing 23 passengers and six crew members, Kabul Radio reported. There was no independent confirmation of the report, which came only hours after the chairman of the Pakistan-based Afghan guerrilla alliance warned of "a major military offensive" to protest its exclusion from Afghan peace talks.

Fire ignites army munitions dump in Pakistan

FAIZABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — Fire broke out Sunday at an army dump laden with munitions believed bound for Afghan rebels, launching hundreds of rockets that screamed across the sky for miles, killing at least 70 people and injuring up to 1,000. The fire of undetermined origin sent a sheet of flame hundreds of feet into the air with a deafening roar, shattering windows and setting off a chain reaction of blasts at the Giji army camp in Faizabad.

Meese, DEA chief tour rebel-infested valley

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Attorney General Edwin Meese flew Sunday to a rebel-infested Amazon jungle valley that is considered the world's greatest source of the plant used in making cocaine. Meese and Drug Enforcement Administration chief John Lawn are on a five-nation tour to review U.S. anti-narcotics programs in Latin America.

Honasan plans to free comrades, report says

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Security was tightened at military facilities Sunday following reports that Col. Gregorio Honasan, the fugitive leader of last year's aborted coup, was planning to free his imprisoned comrades. A Philippine army commander said intelligence reports indicated Honasan was plotting an assault on the Fort Bonifacio Army Headquarters in Manila to free officers and men detained for involvement in the coup attempt.

Nixon: Iran-Contra pardons, Bush win likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon, in a television interview, said Sunday a good case can be made for pardoning key figures in the Iran-Contra scandal after the November election. Nixon, 75, also predicted Vice President George Bush will win the election at the end of a very long night; although Democratic hopeful Michael Dukakis still will be a "formidable candidate," should he win nomination.

Los Angeles gangs kill 2 despite crackdown

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite an unprecedented police crackdown that netted more than 1,200 arrests over two nights, gang violence resumed with the shooting deaths of two people, including a 15-year-old boy, officials said Sunday. Jason Demyers, a reputed gang member, was killed Saturday night in a shooting that erupted as a special task force of 1,000 officers swept through the streets for the second straight night.

Poll: Americans most concerned about drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans believe drug trafficking is a more important foreign policy issue than arms control and the fight against communism in Central America, a poll published Sunday reported. The poll found 48 percent of those surveyed said drug trafficking was the most important issue, 23 percent said Central America, 13 percent said arms control, 9 percent said terrorism and 4 percent said Palestinian unrest.

Oil spill forces evacuation; work crews start clean up

PEORIA (UPI) — Work crews were cleaning up an oil spill that spewed at least 200,000 gallons of crude oil in a subdivision near Chillicothe, blackening houses and lawns and forcing evacuation of about 80 people, officials said Sunday. There were no injuries in the spill that occurred when a 20-inch Amoco pipeline burst Saturday. Earl Bland, from the Peoria County sheriff's department, said.

Candidate: Students' needs will be presented to Board

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Darrell Johnson wants to be an effective advocate for SIU-C students by presenting their needs to the Board of Trustees.

Johnson, 32, a doctoral candidate in philosophy, is running for the student position on the SIU Board of Trustees.

Johnson said the main function of the student trustee is to be willing to speak out. "I think I've already demonstrated that — I have no qualms about doing it anywhere, anytime."

ALTHOUGH THE student trustee vote in the board meeting is a non-binding advisory vote, Johnson said he thinks the student trustee is listened to. "I would like to think any good input would be listened to, and if it were presented well, it would be persuasive."

The real place to be effective is not in the meeting, though, Johnson said. The Board members usually have made up their minds in committee meetings or the night before the full Board meets, he said.

That's the time to talk to them about the issues, he said.

HOWEVER, HE added, it is "important to restate positions at the meeting and let students know you've been making the case."

Some important issues that Johnson feels need to be taken to the Board include:

—Rising tuition. If taxes aren't raised, tuition will be increased again this year, he said.

"Last year I was very disappointed even though I understood the decision," Johnson said. A roll-back provision should be built into any tuition increase proposal, he added.

THE BOARD thought that a roll-back would be politically dangerous, "but if we're faced with it again, I'll push them even harder to have a temporary increase," Johnson said.

Day of Action II might help alleviate the tuition problem, he said.

—Mass transit. Johnson said he "tends to be in favor of it" and has been working with the Undergraduate Student Organization mass transit committee to help research the project before putting it before the Board for consideration.

—Establishing a public interest research group on campus. The USO and Graduate and Professional Student Council support the proposed Illinois Public Interest Research Group. "I'm prepared to defend that," Johnson said.

JOHNSON HAS had four years of student government experience with the GPSC, and is currently the president. He also was vice president for graduate school affairs for two years.

Johnson was active in his departmental committee for two years at SIU-E and decided to get more involved in government when he came to SIU-C.

The GPSC was looking for someone to fill a seat on the council "so I said 'Oh, I'll do it,'" Johnson said.

"The more I got involved, the more I enjoyed it," he added.

Johnson said he has been to every Board meeting since last March and has addressed them several times.

Students can make a difference—Union

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

SPRINGFIELD — Students do have an influence on legislators, a teacher's union representative told student leaders who met Saturday at the Capitol Building to discuss Day of Action II.

Colleges and universities statewide will lobby legislators at the Capitol for more money for education Wednesday. Students also have coordinated a letter-writing campaign and set up appointments to talk to legislators.

"Legislators are scared — they think you have parents, and they think your parents pay tuition," Mike Hade, of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, said.

Last semester's Day of Action made an impact, because the state Senate raised the appropriation level for education afterward, Hade said.

John Huther, an Illinois Board of Higher Education staff member, said the IBHE has recommended an increase in taxes to cover the increased cost of education, but it has stayed away from recommending what the percentage of the tax increase should be.

Heidi Leisner, Undergraduate Student Organization governmental relations commissioner, said only about 40 students have signed up for the buses to Springfield on Wednesday.

Leisner said students need to get involved in the rally. "You can buy a lot of alcohol for $250, and that's how much less students will have (with another tuition increase)," she said.

It's too bad to have to use that comparison, "but if students are going to be on that level, then we'll talk to them on that level," Leisner said.

Only about 40 letters have been turned in to be taken to legislators, Leisner said, and some are from teachers. The letters will be hand-delivered during appointments with legislators. Students should write to the legislators from their district, she said.

A bill to keep tuition levels from rising above the higher educational price index will be heard in committee on Wednesday. David Starrett, president of the Illinois Student Association, said the timing of the hearing will give students a chance to testify.

Students who wish to participate in Day of Action II can sign up in the Student Center or call the USO office at 536-3381, Leisner said. A rider's meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Student Center Renaissance Room.

Teachers are cooperating with this effort and will understand if students are gone from class, Leisner said.

SPC censoring campus T-shirts

THE STUDENT PROGRAMMING Council, while admitting it has "no legal right" to monopolize campus T-shirt sales for Springfest, in effect has forced its only competitor out of business.

Two SIU-C design students, Steve Cox and Tom Gorton, designed their own Springfest T-shirts, invested about $1,200 of their own money in printing the shirts and arranged with Delta Tau, a Registered Student Organization, to sell the shirts as representatives of Delta Tau. Cox and Gorton were granted a permit by the Office of Student Development to sell the shirts on campus and began sales at the south end of Faner Hall. In short, Cox and Gorton followed University regulations for selling shirts on campus to the letter.

Along came SPC, claiming Cox and Gorton should not be allowed to sell their shirts on campus because SPC, which organizes Springfest, requested that no other RSOs sell Springfest T-shirts.

SPC CONVINCED DELTA Tau to withdraw its affiliation with Cox and Gorton and let all other RSOs know it does not want them to become affiliated with the pair. Without an RSO's affiliation, Cox and Gorton's permit becomes invalid and the pair no longer is allowed to sell its shirts on campus. Thus, SPC has forced Cox and Gorton off campus and out of the market.

By halting the sale of Cox and Gorton's shirts because they refer to Springfest, SPC is censoring the content of T-shirts to be sold on campus. SPC does not want to stop the sale of all T-shirts on campus, just those that have the word "Springfest" on them. This is censorship, pure and simple.

Sean Craig, SPC's chairman of special programs, the committee in charge of Springfest, said one of the reasons SPC wants to control T-shirt sales is to maintain the "consistency of the program." Craig said the shirts sold by Cox and Gorton did not deal with the festival's theme "Clown'n Around" and added that SPC's shirts do not encourage alcohol consumption, while the competitors' shirts do.

CRAIG CALLS THIS "encouraging responsibility at Springfest," but in reality it is just another side to SPC's desire to censor T-shirts sold on campus.

Craig also said: "Springfest has the potential to escalate into a riotous party event and we want to avoid that. One way we try to avoid that is to control the sale of T-shirts."

The question comes to mind: When have T-shirts ever been known to incite riots?

Cox and Gorton said they decided to market T-shirts because they need to earn money to help pay for college. Instead of rewarding enterprising students by allowing them to prosper (the pair designed T-shirts that sold more than 1,800 pieces last Halloween), SPC has shot them down for no justifiable reason.

Humanitarian aid should help pay for Contras' heartless atrocities

As the April 15 tax deadline approaches, I urge American taxpayers to think about earmarking that portion of their taxes that goes to the recently approved "humanitarian" aid to the Nicaraguan contras.

News reports said some of the money was to benefit children. I'd certainly like my taxes to pay for a plastic surgeon to help that child whose face was peeled off by contras, if she's still alive.

Can our money help that 10-year-old and her younger sister, who were raped by contras, to return to a normal life? Can we do something for the many others, adults and children, who have been tortured by the contras? Can we do anything for the families of those who the contras have killed, mutilated, and hung up for public display? Can we help them forget the severed heads on pikes along the roadside? (CBS News documented many of these atrocities on its "West 57th" program, June 21, 1985. See also the 1987 book by Leslie Cockburn, "Out of Control.")

Certainly some of the appropriated humanitarian funds should go to the Ben Linder Memorial Fund (commemorating the young American engineer who was shot by contras at point-blank range for his part in bringing hydroelectric power to rural Nicaragua) — then we could be sure the money really is used for humanitarian purposes.

And last but not least, some of the money should go to the contras themselves, for the purpose of reuniting them with their families in Miami, insuring that they don't use their U.S.-supplied weapons for marauding in the countryside of Honduras, as border-area residents in that country complain that they do.

Yes, we American taxpayers may have reason to feel good about this aid — if we can keep our eye on where it goes. — Lee Hartman, associate professor, foreign languages.

Idiots and loudmouths not one and the same

This letter is in response to Brian Anderson's letter on April 5 concerning "loudmouths" at Morris Library.

He has a good command of words and gets his message across very well. However, he used the word idiot six times in his letter without really knowing what he was talking about.

Idiot is a medical term; and the majority of idiots will be in mental institutions and certainly not in University libraries. Helen Besterfield, academic adviser, mechanical engineering.

could never afford it. I finally went out and took lessons and bought an airplane."

"It's just a thrill to fly," Shrum said. "I can go up and fly and relax. A lot of people get nervous, but it's relaxing to me. It's the safest way to go anywhere."

J. Bon Hartline built his plane, KifFox, in six months. He put about 500 hours into it, he said.

The plane is made of fiberglass and covered with Dacron material, which is glued on and heat-shrunk with an iron. The plane is painted with at least nine coats of paint, which makes the fibers solid and acts as a protective coat.

Hartline, 70, of Anna, has been flying for 42 years. He said one of the most unusual things that happened to him while flying occurred when he was flying with another pilot. When they were landing, the grass on the runway, which hadn't been cut, got caught in the landing gear and caused the tail of the plane to flip over the nose.

"That's the only trouble I've ever been in," he said.

Sam Hoskins, sophomore in aviation maintenance technology, was one of the skydivers at the show. He said he began skydiving in 1972 and has done around 2,000 jumps since.

He has taken part in two world-record jumps for the largest free fall, he said, one with 72 people and one with 120 people.

Hoskins said safety is the main thing he thinks about before he jumps. "Everyone carries two parachutes, a main and reserve." He added that emergency procedures are reviewed before each jump.

During the show, skydivers jumped from 4,000 feet.

"We always give ourselves a safety margin," Hoskins said. "We always open our parachutes at 2,500 feet, so if something happens, we have time to open the emergency parachute."

Despite the dramatics of skydiving, it is safe, he said. "Skydiving is safer than being a teenage driver or a construction worker."

Hoskins said skydiving is "kind of like a Superman fantasy. It's a real feeling a freedom. It's like going for a spacewalk, but it only takes 30 to 60 seconds to come down."

has an industrial hygienist at the work site, he said.

"When the workers were refused (entrance to) the building, the matter was turned over to the union," Gibson said. "We will be back. We've spent a lot of money. We have to finish the job."

"They are just upset because they don't have the job," a representative of the company, who asked that his name not be used, said. "We are meeting all the regulations. We were approved by the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency). We don't have anything else to say about it."

Charles Hayduck, an EPA inspector, told a Daily Egyptian reporter last week that he found no code violations when he inspected the project site March 31.

Workers, who were removing the asbestos from a room on the 4th floor, were wearing protective clothing and state-approved respirators, Hayduck said. Showers were provided for the workers, he added.

The asbestos was being placed in doubled, clear plastic bags that were marked and sealed with tape, he said. "Asbestos" was hand-written on the bags in black ink, he said.

"It was a small job," Hayduck said. "They had not began work (removal) on the 4th floor ceilings yet. There is a very large amount of asbestos there."

"I guess I should have delayed my inspection until they started there."

Asbestos was used as insulation in buildings built about 40 years ago. Asbestos particles breathed into the lungs have been linked to lung cancer and other respiratory ailments.

Doug Franklin, a field representative of the Laborers' International Union of North America Local 773 that picketed the site, said the picketers were trying to show the public the dangers of the asbestos.

"I was up here the other day watching the workers," Franklin said. "They had a window open, nothing's roped off. Students are walking right past the building."

Franklin estimated that 90 percent of the University community doesn't know what asbestos is or what its effects can be.

"A group of little kids were playing right down in front of the building," Franklin said. "People are feeling fine right now, but think about 15, 20 years down the road."

Franklin said all of the windows should be closed and covered with plastic, but "one is open, and the particles can settle all over this area."

Franklin pointed out an open dumpster. The materials in the dumpster need to be bagged and marked for disposal, he said.

Franklin also said it should take an hour and a half for workers to enter and leave the building, if they take all of the safety precautions.

"These workers are running in and out of here in 15 to 20 minutes. They aren't wearing respirators, just a paper mask over their mouths," Franklin said.

"The workers are not qualified to do the work," Franklin added. "We aren't trying to get the work. We just want to show the public that the University is taking the cheapest route and is eliminating safety factors."

Franklin said the picketers also hope to catch the attention of the state health department.

"We support the University," Franklin said. "Some of these people have children that attend, but it is taking a back seat to safety."

The local union has the right to protest, Jack Dyer, director of University Relations, said. But he added, "We (the University) are not involved with it. We have no authority or responsibility."

The state's Capital Development Board is in charge of the project, Dyer said. The University recommended an architect and engineer for the job and then sought the release of funding from the state, Dyer said.

The Capital Development Board's project manager, Myron Vangeison, said, "I don't have anything to say about it (the protest) other than I believe the work is being carried out in a safe manner."

"We have over 2,000 projects going on in the state," Bruce Simon, a spokesman for the development board, said, "This is the first time safety has been questioned."

Simon said the open dumpster in question is full of "uncontaminated" materials that had to be removed to get to the asbestos.

"The workers are licensed and following all guidelines," Simon said. "We've seen nothing that would indicate they are not following guidelines."

Input from city-sponsored retreat to be examined, made into report

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

The input of more than 70 participants in an all-day, city-sponsored retreat Saturday will be examined and a report will be made before the city decides its next step in developing downtown Carbondale.

The retreat, which was held at Touch of Nature, was to bring together people from throughout the community to discuss the future of downtown Carbondale and to start creating plans for its revitalization.

Mayor Neil Dillard said it did just that.

Participants included representatives from the University, the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce, business, the theatre, city officials and all city council members, Dillard said.

"No one group dominated," Dillard said. "It was a very positive experience. Everyone was positive, thinking of the future and possibilities important to them."

City Manager Bill Dixon said the workshop, which probably cost the city less than $1,500, was a worthwhile investment.

"From what occurred, the cost is probably a bargain," Dixon said.

Lars Larson, who was facilitator at the workshop, said: "The downtown area needs something done and putting ideas together was important. There was a great deal of participation and people were energetic and cooperative."

Larson, a professor in management, said a lot of ideas were generated.

In the afternoon, people divided into seven groups: historical concerns, traffic, pride in community, city hall-civic center, cultural resources, funding and business. The groups' comments will be made into a report by city officials and given to participants, Dillard said.

Copies of the report will be available to the public at the city clerk's office in City Hall, he said. People who didn't participate may be charged for the information, Dillard added.

A meeting of the Downtown Revitalization Committee at 7 p.m. April 21 at the Unitarian Church, 201 W. Elm St., will take up the issue where Saturday's retreat left off, Dillard said.

The meeting isn't sponsored by the city, but Dillard said city officials will probably attend. Dillard said he probably will attend the meeting.

Dixon said he will discuss with Dillard whether to put a discussion of the retreat results on the City Council's agenda for its April 19 meeting.

coming in and taking over Springfest, Cox said. "I still don't think they have the right to tell an organization what they can and can't sell on campus."

The two students are now negotiating with another student organization to sponsor their T-shirt sales.

"The SPC depends on the good faith of all registered student organizations to make Springfest a success, Craig said. "The consequence of trying to counter-program by another student organization should be considered," he added.

A memo dated March 7 to all registered student organizations from SPC states that SPC has exclusive rights to Springfest T-shirt sales.

Cox says that Delta Tau never received the memo.

Sharon Patterson of SPC said last week that the Office of Student Development was informed of SPC's claim to exclusive rights to T-shirt sales and asked not to issue vending permits to other organizations wanting to sell Springfest T-shirts.

Nancy Hunter Pei, director of the Office of Student Development, said that while she was not personally aware of the request, it is the policy of her office to comply with such requests.

However, on March 28, Delta Tau obtained the proper permits from student development to sell T-shirts on campus.

Hospitals face blood shortage

Emergency blood drive to be sought

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

The Red Cross is seeking an organization to sponsor an emergency campus blood drive to replenish local hospital blood banks, blood drive coordinator Vivian Ugent said.

The 1,833 pints collected in last week's five-day blood drive fell almost 700 pints short of the goal set by the Red Cross and is not enough to meet the emergency needs of local hospitals, Ugent said.

"This is not what we've come to expect from SIU-C," Ugent said. "We've got a national reputation as a leader."

An SIU-C blood drive in April 1986 collected 3,706 pints, the highest amount collected at an American university during peacetime.

"Hospitals like to have extra blood stocked, and we are not able to replenish them," Ugent said.

The shortage forces the Red Cross to allocate blood to hospitals on a case-by-case basis, Ugent said.

"The region has come to depend on us," Ugent said. "We need to do something and do it quickly. This may be a second chance to recoup a few hundred pints."

The auxiliary drive may last one day or more, Ugent said.

Ugent said sufficient interest exists to make a second drive a success, adding that she had received many calls from students who did not have a chance to donate.

"Students are a caring group. When they realize the need exists, they'll dig deeper," Ugent said. "I still have faith in the students."

Ugent said donation totals were low because of last week's warm weather and students' academic workloads.

"The warm weather encouraged sun-bathing instead of donating," Ugent said. "I also heard a lot of students say, 'this week we've got so many tests.'"

Most campus blood drives last for six days, but because of the Easter holiday, last week's drive lasted only from Monday to Friday, Ugent said.

Beethoven Society offers diversity, musical scholars

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

Carbondale's Beethoven Society for Pianists, one of eight such societies worldwide, may seem like an exclusive organization, but it is actually an organization that welcomes diversity.

"There are a variety of people who attend our meetings and concerts," Don Beattie, associate professor of music and founder of the organization, said. "We have members that range in age from 6 to 100."

The Beethoven Society for Pianists was founded in 1984 by Beattie and since then membership in the organization has skyrocketed from 35 members to over 500 members.

The society was founded to fund and find lecturers and performers of Beethoven's music. The society also funds contests for young pianists and has given away more than $7,000 since its inception in 1984.

The Beethoven Society will wrap up its 1987-88 season with a spring festival this Friday and Saturday.

The festival will feature English pianist Clive Swanbourne, who will perform Beethoven's "Hammerklavier" Piano Sonata, opus 106.

The "Hammerklavier" Piano Sonata is considered one of Beethoven's greatest sonatas, Beattie said. "You've got to remember that at the time he was writing this sonata, he was stone deaf. He was coming from a different world."

Swanbourne is a graduate from the Royal College of Music in London and received his Doctorate in Performance in 1987 from the Yale School of Music, where he studied with Claude Frank and Ward Davenny.

Swanbourne has won numerous awards, including Gold Medals at both the 1982 and 1986 International Piano Recording Competition, and has given over 150 performances in every major city in the United States.

The festival also will feature Beethoven scholar William S. Newman, who will lecture from his work, "Playing Beethoven's Piano Music According to Beethoven."

First cousin to actor Paul Newman, William S. Newman is one of the most distinguished Beethoven scholars. He has published numerous books and articles on Beethoven and his books "The Pianist's Problems" and "Understanding Music" have become standard texts in many college courses.

In the past, the Beethoven Society has featured performances by world renowned pianists such as Jorge Bolet and Fernando Laires.

"Laires absolutely blew us away," Beattie said. "His performance was the highlight for us (the Society)."

Laires also was taken by the people of Carbondale, Beattie said. "He (Laires) said, 'This is one of the nicest places he ever played.' He thought the people of Carbondale were very open and communicative."

In April of 1987, The Beethoven Society held a back-to-back performance of all nine symphonies by Beethoven. The performance featured 26 pianists and lasted 13 hours, during which a power outage occurred at the beginning of Symphony No. 7.

The event was the first successful attempt at performing all nine symphonies back-to-back and was reported by China's newspaper the China Post. The China Post reported that "a social club organized by the late H. L. Mencken once attempted the feat in a Baltimore parlor, but Mencken's account has it that many of the musicians succumbed to the effects of beer before reaching the final chorale of the Ninth."

13. Do you believe that the quality of research and teaching at SIUC has been improved by the expansion of the SIUC administrative bureaucracy?
14. Do you think the administration is currently accountable to the faculty?
15. Do you think that the essential functions performed by the SIU administration could be performed by a smaller, more efficient administration?
16. Do you think that it is time to reduce the size and costs of the administrative bureaucracy at SIUC?
17. Did you know that NEA's affiliate in the California State Universities was able to negotiate a cap on administrative costs?
18. Do you think IEA/NEA should work to reduce administrative costs at SIU?

The Board of Trustees: Should It be elected?

19. Did you know that some BOT members have been appointed to consecutive terms since 1967?
20. Do you know of any instance when the BOT overruled the Chancellor?
21. Did you know that the chairman of the BOT recently said that the top SIU Administrators are underpaid by as much as 25%?
22. Do you think the BOT is accountable to the general public?
23. Do you think that the BOT should be elected (like the U of I Board)?

Seyfarth & Shaw: Why Did The Administration Hire A Notorious Anti-Union Law Firm?

24. Did you know that the university's lawyers (Seyfarth & Shaw) are widely regarded as specialists in union-busting?
25. Did you know that a member of this law firm was quoted as saying to a training session for administrators that "We belong to the Bomb-them-into-submission School of Labor Relations"?
26. Did you know that, on the advice of Seyfarth & Shaw, the administration filed a 600 page, 10 lb. appeal of the Hearing Officer's unit determination ruling?
27. Did you know that it is a standard tactic of "union avoidance" specialists to delay bargaining elections as long as possible through legal maneuvers?
28. Did you know that the university has already spent $245,929 on Seyfarth & Shaw?
29. Did you know that it was reported on both Channel 3 and in the Daily Egyptian that the administration is prepared to spend as much as half a million dollars on the services of Seyfarth & Shaw?
30. Did you know that state law now forbids public employers (such as SIU) to employ the services of law firms or consultants to advise or assist them in defeating collective bargaining?
31. Do you think SIU should sever its relationship with Seyfarth & Shaw?

If you agree that the growth of administrative bureaucracy (at the expense of faculty and staff) has gotten out of hand, that Seyfarth & Shaw are unnecessary, that the Board of Trustees should be elected and that the Chancellor's office should be abolished, it is time to actively support collective bargaining.

If you are willing to help IEA/NEA to bring constructive change to SIUC, please contact us at 457-2141.

Men's tennis knocks off Notre Dame in home debut

By Jeff Grieser
Staff Writer

A narrow victory over Notre Dame was the highlight of a three-match sweep for the men's tennis team during its home opener.

The Salukis pounded Bradley, 8-1, Saturday morning, then got past the Fighting Irish, 5-4, that afternoon. SIU-C capped the perfect weekend by beating the Louisville Cardinals, 7-2, on Sunday.

After a slow start, the Salukis have won seven dual matches in a row to improve to 14-12 for the spring.

"We said we were going to have to play ourselves into condition," Coach Dick LeFevre said. "We said before the season that this is the way it was going to be."

Against Louisville, Saluki Jairo Aldana lost at No.1 singles and Mickey Maule and Fabiano

Ramos lost their No.1 doubles match. However, the rest of the squad handled the Cardinals easily.

SIU-C's only loss to Missouri Valley opponent Bradley came at No. 3 doubles. LeFevre decided that Juan Martinez should retire from the match because of knee problems.

LeFevre correctly predicted that the match with Notre Dame would be a good one. The Salukis, who fell to the Irish in South Bend, Ind., on the opening weekend of the spring, turned the tables at home.

The Salukis' top four singles players, Aldana, Jose Demeterco, Maule, and Ramos won their matches. The No. 2 doubles team of Aldana and Demeterco got the fifth and decisive victory for the Salukis.

Demeterco, Maule, and Ramos combined for a 9-0 singles record in the three matches.

In the second game, ISU erased a four-run Saluki lead with an eight-run, six-hit explosion in the sixth inning.

The Salukis fell short with two runs in the seventh. For the game, Rick Damico went three for five with two doubles and four RBIs.

Saluki pitcher Shane Gooden (0-2) received the loss. ISU pitcher Scott Brown (1-0) earned the victory and gave the Redbirds an 11-6-1 overall record and a 2-2 mark in the Valley.

Saturday was spring training all over again for ISU, who hadn't played since March 13th because of rain. Redbird pitchers managed to hold Saluki hitters to only seven hits in 17 innings Saturday, but SIU-C still came away with one victory.

In the first game, the Redbirds scored three runs in the bottom of the eighth to beat the Salukis, 5-2. Pitcher Dale Kisten (3-5) went the distance only to lose his fourth-straight game.

In the first inning, ISU scored two runs. The Salukis tied the game with two runs in the seventh.

Damico led off with a base hit. After Joe Hall struck out, Cliff McIntosh knocked in Damico with a double and took third on a bad throw by the left fielder. Chuck Locke then scored McIntosh with a suicide-squeeze bunt.

The Redbirds won the game in the eighth with three runs off Kisten.

The Salukis got only three hits against ISU's ace, Dan Freed (3-0).

In game two, Saluki Lee

Meyer showed the Redbirds why Jones saved the fragile-armed pitcher for the conference season. Meyer (3-0) threw a shutout to give the Salukis an extra-inning, 1-0 win.

ISU pitcher Bruce Prybylinski blanked the Salukis for the first seven innings.

In the eighth, Dave Wrona led off with a single and moved to second on Rick Gaeb's sacrifice bunt. Wrona moved to third as Brad Hollenkamp reached base on an error by the second baseman. Wrona then scored the game-winner when Doug Shields tapped the ball to the pitcher, whose only play was to first.

Meyer struck out seven and has fanned 24 batters in 27 innings.

SOFTBALL, from Page 16

The homer was Gibbs' second of the day and third of the season. In the first inning of the opener, Gibbs lifted a two-run shot over the right-field fence in the Salukis' 4-3 loss to Western Illinois.

The Salukis are 17-12 overall and finished the first week of Gateway Conference action at 2-4. Western Illinois is 12-13, 2-2.

The Salukis got the five runs off losing pitcher Janice Hanerhoff (4-7). Becky Rickenbaugh, Kim Tummins and Mary Jo Firnbach each had a double to highlight the rally.

"Janice quit mixing her pitches," Western Illinois coach Kathy Veroni said. "We needed more off-speed pitches from her."

Salukis' right-hander Lisa Peterson (9-6) got the victory. She gave up just three hits, walked three and struck out three.

"That was an excellent pitching performance," Brechtelsbauer said. "That's what we were looking for from her. She stuck in there and fired hard."

The first game started with a bang. Tummins led off with a double to the right-field fence, took third on Firnbach's sacrifice bunt, then scored on an error by the pitcher.

Teresa Smugala walked, stole second, and moved to third on a passed ball. She scored on Gibbs' homerun.

However, the 3-0 margin wouldn't hold. In the Westwinds' first, Kara McGaw walked and scored on an error, which allowed Shelly Black to go to first. A catcher's error put Liz Hernandez on. Then Sandy Long belted a three-run home run to left center.

The Salukis got only three more hits off winning pitcher Brenda Heyl (8-6).

"We started pressing," Brechtelsbauer said. "The players were disgusted that they had lost a 3-0 lead so quickly. They have to learn to play within their own means."

Lisa Robinson (8-7) was the losing pitcher for the Salukis.

"After that first-inning explosion, did I think it would turn out to be a 16-15 game? No, not with that quality of pitchers on the mound," Veroni said.

Women runners break two records

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

The women's track team broke two team records in probably its best showing ever at the SEMOTION Relays Friday and Saturday in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The 4 X 800 relay team of Danielle and Michelle Sciano, Lisa Judiscak and Rosanne Vincent shattered the old record by almost 45 seconds with a time of 8 minutes, 58.70 seconds. The previous record was 9:32.2.

Danielle Sciano ran a personal best 2:13 split in the first leg of the relay. Michelle Sciano followed with a 2:14 and Judiscak ran a 2:19. Vincent ran the anchor leg in 2:11.

"Rosanne really had probably the most outstanding meet of any of our athletes," Coach Don DeNoon said.

Vincent also was a member of the record-breaking distance medley team. She and team members Jane Schumacher, Dora Kyriacou and Judiscak combined for a time of 11:53.48. It broke the old record by about a minute, DeNoon said.

In that race, Vincent ran a 2:12 800-meter split. "It was a somewhat exciting race until Rosanne broke it open," DeNoon said.

The Salukis' other first-place finish was by Christiana Philippou in the triple jump. She jumped 39 feet, 10 1/4 inches. Carmen Robbins finished third at 37-8 1/4 and Brenda

The men's team is back on track in its preparation for the Missouri Valley Conference championships after improved performances at the SEMOTION Relays in Cape Girardeau.

"The team is starting to come around again," Coach Bill Cornell said. "I'm a lot happier than I've been the last few weeks."

The Salukis had some strong performances Friday and Saturday, but the coaches are looking more at the team's overall attitude.

"Even more important than times was the fact that they showed some spirit and some life," assistant coach Doug Adler said. "We hope its our first major step back to the conference championships."

In the field events, the Salukis had another good performance by Modiba Crawford in the triple jump. Crawford jumped 49 feet, 1 1/4 inches to place third. This is the second straight week that Crawford has jumped more than 49 feet.

All-American Ron Harrier placed in discus, hammer, and javelin. Harrier threw the discus 186-5 to place second.

Adler said Harrier's throw was very good considering the weather conditions. The weather was good for the runners but the discus needs a certain kind of wind, he said.

Harrier's second-place throw of 205-6 in the javelin was his best throw of the season. He placed fourth in the hammer with a throw of

Salukis split weekend Valley play

Same old story, that's a fact. One win here and one loss there.

The baseball team split a pair of doubleheaders in its Valley opening series against Illinois State this weekend in Normal. The Salukis, 17-12 overall and 2-2 in the conference, now have split their last four doubleheaders.

After the Salukis won the first game, 9-5, on Sunday, they blew a 6-2 lead in the second game and lost, 10-8.

In game one, Saluki starting pitcher Rich "Soup" Campbell survived a four-run seventh inning to finish the game and gain the victory. He allowed five earned runs on seven hits while striking out 10 Redbirds.

The Redbirds' big seventh-inning cut gave them a 5-3 lead. SIU-C came right back to score six runs in the eighth, highlighted by Joe Hall's two-run homer. Hall knocked in four runs in the game.

Redbird Paul Wagner (0-1) was the losing pitcher.

MACOMB — Softball coach Kay Brechtelsbauer no longer needs to worry that her team is slipping offensively.

After Bradley beat the Salukis, 8-5, on Friday, SIU-C made a comeback. The Salukis defeated Western Illinois, 6-1, in the second game of Saturday's doubleheader, pounding out five base hits in a five-run fourth inning.

But as if to assure Brechtelsbauer that the Saluki bats were securely in place, sophomore Shelly Gibbs shattered a Sally Delacruz fastball and sent it sailing over the center field fence for a solo home run in the fifth.

"That was a big run for us," Brechtelsbauer said. "It gave us the five-run lead when they had two outs and bases loaded in the seventh and the fence only 200 feet away. Anyone could crank one, but Gibbs' extra run kept the tying run in the Western dugout."

Swim team finishes 26th at NCAAs

Harri Garmendia earned All-America honors for the second straight year, and three other Salukis received All-America honorable mentions at the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships.

Overall, the team finished 26th with 21 points at the Championships, held Thursday through Saturday in Indianapolis. Texas beat out favored Southern California for the national championship, finishing with 424 points to USC's 369.5.

"Like any competition at this level, we had some exciting, emotional highs and some big disappointments," Coach Doug Ingram said.

Garmendia received All-America honors for finishing seventh in the 200 butterfly with a time of 1:46.85. He was honored in the same event last year.

Scott Roberts earned an All-America honorable mention for his 12th-place finish in the 200 backstroke in 1:48.19. In the preliminary heat, Roberts set a school record in the event with a time of 1:48.04.

The 400-medley relay team of Roberts, Lee Carry, Garmendia and Kevin Nagy earned an All-America honorable mention, finishing 15th in 3:20.30.

The 400- and 800-freestyle relay teams didn't fare as well, finishing 17th and 20th, respectively.

"The relay teams are what cost us in the standings," Ingram said. "We scored in most of the individual events we thought we would, but we'd hoped to do better in the relays."

On Friday, Carry was disqualified in the 100 breaststroke for taking an extra leg kick as he neared the finish. He had finished in school record time of 55.64.

"Lee didn't let it get him down, though," Ingram said. "He came out and cheered his teammates on."

Lyle becomes first Briton to win Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Sandy Lyle gathered his composure after a near-disastrous trip through Amen Corner, recovering to make a 10-foot birdie putt at the 18th hole Sunday to outduel Mark Calcavecchia and win the 52nd Masters.

Lyle became the first Briton to win the revered tournament and cemented his claim as the current No. 1 player in the world.

He won on yet another dramatic Sunday at one of the sport's cathedrals — the Augusta National Golf Club — and he did so just as it appeared he would toss the tournament into the hands of Calcavecchia.

Lyle, needing to par the final hole to force the second Masters sudden-death playoff in as many years, put his tee shot in a fairway bunker and faced a brutally difficult shot.

However, Lyle hit a tremendous bunker shot, sending the ball soaring just onto the top level of the two-level green. The ball teetered on the edge of the slope for a moment, then began drifting back toward the hole. It finished 10 feet from the stick, from where Lyle rolled the putt into the heart of the cup to capture his second major title.
